MRS. SARAH A. POWER

Peacefully She Sleeps—Died Saturday
November 10th, at 7:15 P. M.

At the hour named Mrs. Sarah A. Power passed peacefully into her eternal rest, after a brief illness.

The sad news rather unexpected to her large circle of relatives and friends.

She had led an active life and appeared to enjoy exceptionally good health.

Nothing we can say would add to or detract from her sweet Christian character.

She was at all times loyal to her church, the M. E. Church, South, which faith she had embraced at an early age. She will be sadly missed by her family, her church and her friends.

Mrs. Sarah A. Power was born on the 11th of November, 1841. She passed away on her seventy-fifth birthday.

Her husband John W. Power preceded her to the grave some 14 years ago.

Her surviving children are Henry A. Power of Paris, Ky., Mrs. E. H. Kenner of Flemingsburg, Mrs. C. D. Newell, Mrs. J. E. Threlkeld, Mrs. J. G. Wadsworth and John W. Power of this city.

She leaves one brother, John T. Bramel and three sisters, Mrs. Thomas Allison, Mrs. D. J. Rees and Mrs. James B. Key.

"There is no death! An angel form, Walks over the earth with silent tread,

He bears our best loved ones away— And then—we call them dead."

"He leaves our hearts all desolate, He plucks our fairest flowers; Transplanted into bliss—they now Adorn immortal bowers."

Funeral at her late residence Tuesday 10:30 a. m.

There will be a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Woman's Club this afternoon in the Public Library at 2:30 o'clock. Business of importance.

QUIET WEDDING

Was That of Mr. Benjamin K. Crockett of Lexington and Mrs. Caroline Long Russell of Lexington Here Saturday.

Mr. Benjamin K. Crockett of Lexington and Mrs. Caroline Long Russell of this city were quietly married at the home of Mrs. M. C. Russell on East Third street Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. F. Stahl, pastor of the Christian Church. Miss Thompson of Silver Grove played the wedding march. The home was beautifully decorated. About 75 guests were present. Mrs. Edwin Matthews was matron of honor and Mr. Henry Hutchison of Lexington was best man.

Mrs. Russell was the widow of the late Christopher Russell and has lived in this city for a number of years. She is a very popular lady and has a very large circle of friends. Her accomplishments are many.

Mr. Crockett is a very prominent business man of Lexington, being a merchandise broker. He is respected in his city as a man of keen business abilities and is known widely over the state of Kentucky.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple left over the L. & N. for their future home in Lexington, which was awaiting them, having been furnished and prepared before the wedding. They will make a wedding trip later.

A number of persons came down from Lexington to witness the ceremony.

DEMOCRATIC JUBILEE

Tonight in Celebration of the Re-election of Woodrow Wilson as President of the United States. Promises to Be a Great Event.

The big Democratic parade and jubilee tonight in this city promises to be one of the biggest demonstrations this city has ever seen. Democrats from all over this county and the neighboring counties, lean and fat, short and tall, good and bad, old and young, little and big, merry and otherwise, all will join in the big festivities.

The Republicans are not to be excluded from the merry making. For will they not also be participants in the big parade? The committee extends to all of them to take part and as the Republicans quickly recovered from the terrible blow of learning that they will be compelled to bear Woodrow another four years a large crowd of them will be in line.

A large number of Brown countians are expected to cross the river and participate in the jubilee and the Democrats all over the country are shouting halloo for the Ohio went Democratic. Free ferriage on the Steamer Lorraine will be given to men and women from everywhere in Ohio that wish to come. The Ohians will be given an especial part in the parade.

"This said that several notable characters, prominent in the history of the country at the present will be present and will add to the festivity of the occasion. Roosters galore will be on hands to crow forth proclaiming that Wobly Woodrow has been reelected, although as Ed Morrow once observed, they should hang their heads in shame when they think of how their consorts, the noble hens, are treated under the Underwood Tariff Law.

Go to it, Democrats, we're for you. Let all of the Republicans in the country round show that they easily forget their defeats and are willing to meet their honorable opponents amicably after this all over. Come one, come all.

DEUTSCHLAND READY FOR DASH TO SEA

New London, Conn., November 12—The time of the departure of the German submarine Deutschland was still uncertain tonight, although everything apparently has been in readiness since Saturday for a quick dash to sea. At the customhouse it was said the manifest had not yet been filed, but that this formality, together with the issuance of clearance papers, would occupy only a short time.

There were more rumors today that British cruisers were outside the three-mile limit waiting for the Deutschland, and that two German war submarines were off the coast to convoy the boat back to Germany. There was no confirmation.

Mr. Clarence Boyer and Miss Martha Trapp were quietly married in this city yesterday morning at 8:30 o'clock by Rev. S. K. Hunt at the parsonage of the Third Street M. E. Church. The happy couple left on C. & O. train No. 1 for Cincinnati. From there they went to Jackson, Mich., where they will spend a week. They will then go to Fort Wayne, Ind., where Mr. Boyer has accepted a position as drummer in a large moving picture theater.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. John Shepard of East Fourth street and is a very accomplished young lady. For the past several weeks she has been engaged as pianist in the Washington Opera House. She has a host of friends in this city, all of whom respect her for her sweet ways and loving disposition.

Mr. Boyer is a native of Michigan, but for the past two years has been in this city as drummer at the Washington Opera House. During his stay in this city he has made many friends. Mr. Boyer is a very clever and pleasing young man and is exceedingly popular.

GERMANY'S SECOND WIND

The runner, the swimmer and others engaged in athletic sports get their second wind. Efficiently experts, so-called, tell us nowadays that the brain as well as the lungs, has second wind, and that when it appears fagged and is driven its reserve strength is called into play with astonishing results. Germany is providing an example of economic and industrial second wind, which is vexing the enemy and inspiring the respect of the disinterested onlooker.

Prof. Cassel, of the University of Stockholm, has written a book upon the subject of Germany's development of unsuspected resources to offset the difficulties of the situation created by the war.

Germany was badly demoralized industrially soon after the war got into full swing, but, Prof. Cassel says, she soon recovered in a large measure. The women, the children, the old men, the soldiers in active service, were called upon to make themselves useful in industry. War horses behind the German trenches, were put to work in agriculture. Cattle farming, to produce beef, dairy farming, fruit farming, general farming, became a part of the business of armies. Hay is mown within sight of the trenches, pigs and cows are kept in underground bomb-proof stables, convenient to the commissariat. A million prisoners were put to work to produce supplies for Germany, and prefer working for the enemy as against loafing in his prisons. Women were put into banks, on the platforms of electric cars. Supposedly superannuated men hauled out of retirement and put to work as teamsters or at other jobs requiring no great physical activity. And the gospel of accepting all substitutes was preached all over the empire. In Germany things are not what they seem. The bread may be made of potato flour or hickories. The rubber may be a chemical product. The gunny sack may be made of thistle fiber. But the machinery of life goes the drafting of millions of able-bodied men for the various interminable battle fronts, and the employment of millions in industries producing the necessities of war.

The spectacle of tenacity and tenacity in the face of what appears to the world certain ultimate defeat, is inspiring. What a pity that such a people could be so basely used by a monarch whose virtual absolutism and whose ideals and aims savor of the Middle Ages, although as a master manufacturer, a master scientist, a master agriculturist he is, through his control of a submissive people of highly developed capability, the most modern of the notable men of modern times.

How long Germany's second wind will last nobody can say. Much longer, at any rate, than seemed possible when the attempted dash to Paris failed and the Kaiser was put upon the defensive at the outset of a long-planned offensive which was to smash through all opposition and obstacles.—Courier-Journal.

SAVE THE TREES

Although we have enjoyed an unprecedented run of lovely weather, November is the month in which to look after the interests of our shade trees, and the American Forestry Association, with its usual promptitude has sent out a valuable bulletin of information as to the best methods of carrying the trees and shrubberies through the severe weather of the winter. The Times herewith appends the association's bulletin with the hope that the people of Louisville and Kentucky will utilize its suggestions for the preservation of our beautiful trees and bushes. The bulletin:

"Prune trees and remove the dead branches.
"Do whatever fall spraying may be necessary to overcome sucking or scale insects.

"Prepare a compost of leaf mold in a mixture with manure and soil. This compost will prove of great value in all planting and gardening work on your premises as well as in rejuvenating impoverished specimen trees.

"Prune the roots of the trees which are to be moved during the winter; cut around the base of the trees and fill the trench with straw.

"In especially places protect the rhododendrons and other tender plants and shrubs with evergreen boughs. Do this only where the cold and exposure make it absolutely necessary."—Louisville Times

THE TRAGEDY OF THE BABY

(Detroit Free Press)

The real tragedy of most babies is that their mothers are amateurs. We hear a great deal—spasmodically—about "better babies." We shall never have them until we have better mothers. Incidentally, better fathers might help some.

There are some foolish folk who talk about motherhood as if the mere fact of bearing a child conferred the knowledge and sense necessary for its proper care. To disprove this contention one has but to note the tiny babes, some of them barely a month old, borne through the scorching streets during the heated period, in their mothers' arms or thrown up over the maternal shoulder like a bag of meal, the head unprotected, the eyes blinking in the sun and the reflected heat from the sidewalk, the body very often wrapped in flannel for fear of "taking cold" with the thermometer at 90 and above, and the little creature protesting in the only way it knows to proclaim its discomfort. Pinto, 400 years before Christ, hinted at the need of a great parental reform. The need is still apparent, despite the progress of civilization and the teachings of modern science, which do not unfortunately, seem to filtrate into the minds of those who need them most.

The place for the babe, and for the little ones whose lives are reckoned in months instead of years, is at home in such days as we have been experiencing of late. No exigencies of shopping or visiting, not even taking them out in the sun. With frequent sponging, the slightest signs of cold—noticed—water, the tender young creature is as well taken care of as any baby, and with prudence in the matter of food stands a fair chance to pull through the heated term, when being a baby is among the hazardous vocations.

It is a reflection upon woman that the death rate of babies under one year is nearly 18 per cent of the entire number percentage of loss in the case of sheep or cattle would engage the attention of the Department of Agriculture. The baby is entirely dependent upon its mother and the care given it. We should talk less about "race suicide" in the ordinary meaning of the term, and more about the murder that is due to ignorance and indifference of mothers who take up the duties of motherhood with no conception of what they are.

HEROIC MOTHERHOOD

(Pittsburgh Press)

Among modern mistakes the greatest is that civilization would do away with war. The second is that woman would seize any chance to escape the curse of Eve as soon as release should show her a way.

Science now offers her "twilight sleep." Many of the country's best physicians approve this painless process of bringing children into the world. Most maternity hospitals provide the opportunity and the cost is not excessive. Nevertheless only a very small per cent of mothers take advantage of this new way of escaping Eve's penalty.

According to the physician of a famous New York hospital, hundreds of women of the highest type absolutely refuse to be made unconscious while the miracle of motherhood is completed. They deliberately choose the old hard way of agony with full knowledge, to a painless unconsciousness which includes perfect ignorance of what is going on.

Bringing a child into the world is the greatest event in any woman's existence. Great women—and these are to be found among the rich and poor, the wise and the unlearned alike—insist on meeting the event lucidly. This defiant motherhood should make fathers very humble indeed.

It has become too common now for certain types of average good men to belittle every phase of feminism. Here is a phase which every man must honor. That would be a very good form of domestic preparedness which would compel such men to ponder deeply and with much respect on that form of modern feminism which is described by the words "heroic motherhood."

OUR GIFTS TO RELIEF FUNDS

(Brooklyn Eagle)

The year book of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace presents a record of charitable effort of which Americans have some reason to be proud. It shows that the citizens of this country have contributed nearly $29,000,000 to the war relief societies, which, so far as they could so, have alleviated the sufferings of stricken Europe. The Belgian Commission has received $7,000,000 of the total, while the aggregate contributed to all the agencies of Belgian relief was more than $10,000,000. English relief funds were increased by American contributions to the extent of $594,000. French societies and associations got $2,000,000 and the relief agencies of the Central Empire were helped by gifts amounting to $5,750,000. The American Jewish Relief Committee alone gathered in $4,000,000.

These are some of the items only in a large and impressive total. They do not in any way represent the work of innumerable small organizations or the efforts and gifts of a multitude of individuals who have been doing effective relief work in a detached way. The heart of this republic responds warmly to the appeal of those who have suffered and are suffering from the immeasurable catastrophe of Europe. It recognizes no nationality to the exclusion of any other. Wherever the sympathies of the majority here may lie as between the warring nations the answer made to the appeal of the starving and the wounded is not determined by prejudice, but by compassion.

The golden rule in life is "making a beginning."

Operation not Necessary after Taking the Great Medicine for Women.

Miller's Falls, Mass.—"Doctors said I had displacement very badly and I would have to have an operation. I had a soreness in both sides and a pulling sensation in my right side. I could not do much work the pain was so bad. I was also troubled with irregularity and other weaknesses. My blood was poor. We had been married four years and had no children.

After using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier I became well and strong and was saved from the operation. We are now the parents of a big baby girl and I praise your remedies to others and give you permission to publish my letter."—Mrs. JOSEPH GUILBAULT, Jr., Bridge Street, Miller's Falls, Mass.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is famous for restoring women to normal health and strength. When this is done wives no longer despair of having children.

A woman should be reluctant to submit to a surgical operation until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. If you have a case that needs special advice, write the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidentially), Lynn, Mass. It is free and no cost.

UNCLE SAM'S DOMAIN

(Chicago Journal)

Secretary Lane has given out some public land figures which are rather surprising. He shows that Uncle Sam still owns 254,945,589 acres of vacant land, situated in 25 states. This is just under 400,000 square miles—an area equal to the combined extent of England, France, Holland, Belgium and Italy, with almost enough left over to include Switzerland, too.

Most of this vast domain is located in the Western states, of course, but 710,564 acres are in the Southern states, largely in Arkansas, and 798,402 acres in Minnesota alone. Florida is the only state fronting on the Atlantic which has any public land.

The agricultural value of this national farm is very limited. Most of the Western land, unless located on inaccessible mountain tops, is dry as an undertaker's eye, and most of the Southern and Minnesota acreage goes to the other extreme and is wet as a First Ward ball. A great deal of mineral wealth is found on the public domain, however, and much of it is good for grazing purposes.

Irrigation and a grazing homestead law will help to settle some parts of the Western domain, but in the South the national Government should get more land before parting with any that it now holds. The problem of the Mississippi River never will be rightly dealt with until the Government takes over the flood lands at their existing value, reclaims them with comprehensive levees or a spillway system, and then by selling this reclaimed acreage pays back to the national Treasury much or all of the expenses incurred.

More than two-thirds of the gold now in use in the world was discovered during the last fifty years.

ROCKS MADE TO TELL THEIR OWN STORY

The walls of the Grand Canyon in Arizona form a great natural geologic section, in which each layer of rock is in its original position relative to those above and below it. In few other places, however, is the story of the upbuilding of the earth's crust so plainly and impressively told. As a rule the geologist who would decipher the records of the rocks must get a bit here and a bit there. He nips and the edges of some beds exposed in a river bluff and others sticking out on a steep mountain side. He determines by fossils or other means the order in which the beds were deposited, and by putting all his information together he constructs what he calls a columnar section for the district in which he is working—thickness and character of the beds. Such a section discloses the strata that form the upper part of the earth's crust at that place, just as a slice of layer cake shows at a glance the various layers of which it is composed.

After a number of districts in a region have been studied and their general columnar sections determined, the geologic history of the region can be learned by comparing these sections, just as the engineer who is drilling for low-grade copper ores compares his drill records and thus learns the outlines of the ore body. Such a comparison of the beds at one place and another shows how certain beds change in character and thickness from place to place or even thin out and disappear. It enables the geologist to draw some conclusions as to the former distribution of land and sea, to distinguish the deposits laid down in deep water from those spread by rivers over their flood plains, and to reconstruct in imagination the course of events at a time long before the beginning of the Grand Canyon. Such a comparison has recently been made for Arizona, and is published by the United States Geological Survey, Department of the Interior, as Professional Paper 98-K, by F. L. Ransome, geologist.

MYSTERIES OF WORDS

(Detroit Free Press)

Our language is always in a state of fluxation or change, so that the meanings of words alter, one hardly knows when or how. Take the word blouse, for instance, which once described a loose, ugly garment, worn by men and badly dressed women. By some mysterious transition it now applies to the thinnest and most fragile of coverings, a thong of V-neck and transparency. Criticism is another instance of perversion. Standing for the power of nice discrimination originally, it is now a synonym for faultfinding. A year or so ago, when a certain prominent New York clergyman was sued for breach of promise, society instantly sensed a scandal, and was disappointed that the breach was merely a failure to pay certain moneys promised. By common usage the phrase has come to mean a failure to fulfill a contract of marriage. Thus, through the simple process of common use in a certain way, words are made to mean things other than their root meanings would signify.

Another amusing thing in regard to words is the way in which they come into prominence and have what is called a "salesmanship" would be termed "a run." For a time they are on all lips, then apparently the public's fancy changes, and another attaches the spotlight. Efficiency played up here something over a year ago. Reform was sadly overworked for a season; community had its innings, and then everybody was approached with a proposition. We can also remember when the adjective big was a favorite prefix. Preparedness and Americanism are the catchwords of the present, but even the pure-bred Yankee could not guess what will replace them. Some unusual word gets into print; its novelty attracts; it is appropriated, and finally dies a natural death and a new one "catches on."

We have, all of us, smiled over the enthusiastic schoolgirl to whom a cake, a sunset, a new dress and a picnic are alike "perfectly elegant." Her vocabulary has its limitations; she was fallen into the habit of using a certain word without much regard for its appropriateness. Really we should not smile; we all do it.

A minister with a salary of $733 a year won a newspaper's prize for the best article on "Thrift." He was a professional among a lot of amateurs, there can be no denying that.

Louis G. Bowden, of Little Falls road was fishing in the waters of Peckman river on Saturday and caught a pickerel. It was a great big one, and as he snapped it out of the water he gave a triumphant cry. A fish hawk flying over his head seized the fish and continued on his way, allowing the hook to flop down empty. Mr. Bowden, as might be expected, was exceedingly annoyed. He was especially anxious to eat some pickerel, and he whipped the river for an hour in an effort to get one. No luck.

The fish hawk who deliberately stole that pickerel flew over the truck farm of Jacob Glaslag after leaving the scene of the robbery. The pickerel was heavy, and the hawk with difficulty flew on. Mr. Glaslag saw the bird swooping low and, throwing up his hat, shouted with energy. The bird dropped the fish.

When Mr. Glaslag took the fish home his wife said it was so large and fine that she would call up Mr. and Mrs. Bowden, who lived near by, and have a splendid fish dinner with new peas, new potatoes, fresh beets and strawberry shortcake.

Mr. Bowden, angry beyond words, arrived home just as his wife was ready to go to the Glaslages home. He went. What a night! What a triumph. His own fish.

CHAMPION FISH STORY

The fish story to be told herewith is at the outset admitted to be the hardest to believe ever emanating from New Jersey. However, truth crushed to the ground will rise out of the crusher, there can be no denying that:

It was a great big one, and as he snapped it out of the water he gave a triumphant cry. PRESIDENT FRANKLIN

Of Union College at Barbourville, Ky., conducted the services at the Third Street M. E. Church yesterday—Large Crowds Present.

Dr. Ezra T. Franklin, president of Union College at Barbourville, Ky., was present at the Third Street M. E. Church yesterday to close the Win-My-Chum Week services and to preach at the two services.

President Franklin's subject at the Epworth League service, which was the last of the Win-My-Chum Week meetings, was "Why Join the Church." He gave a number of striking reasons for such a step and urged that all not members join. At his other two services of the day he spoke very fluently and attracted large crowds.

Mrs. William Tolle sang a very beautiful solo at the Epworth League service, "The Bird with the Broken Wing." There were 133 in attendance at this meeting, one of the largest crowds ever present at one of the Epworth League services.

The Win-My-Chum week services accomplished a great amount of good. Seven pledged themselves to join the church and five to join the Epworth League. The leaders are entirely pleased with the results.

$50,000 DAMAGES

Is Asked by The Administrator of L. Vastile, Who Was Fatally Injured at Lock and Dam No. 33 Several Months Ago.

In the Mason Circuit Court Saturday, the administrator of L. Vastile, W. H. Hord filed suit against the Bates & Rogers Construction Co., now engaged in building Lock and Dam No. 33 just above the city, for $50,000.

On November 12, 1915, Vastile, who was a foreigner, together with another of his countrymen, was injured when he was caught in a dinky collision. He was immediately taken to the hospital but died within 12 hours of his wounds. His companion was badly injured but recovered.

In the suit the plaintiff states that the accident was caused by the negligence of the company's employees, his injuries and subsequent death resulting from the said negligence. The plaintiff claims that the estate of the deceased was damaged to the amount of $50,000 and asks for the same.

Hon. A. D. Cole represents the plaintiff in the case.

MANY COMPLAINTS TO REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE

New York, November 12—Charles E. Hughes and William R. Wilcox, chairman of the Republican National Committee, planned to remain in New York for a week or more to await the result of the official count of the vote in California. It was announced tonight. Once the official count is finished, they expect to take a vacation, Mr. Wilcox said.

The national chairman called upon Mr. Hughes at his hotel this afternoon. Later Mr. Wilcox said: "We are in the same position as we have been since election night. We want an official count in California to assure the re-election of Mr. Wilson before we are willing to concede defeat. Far be it from us to deprive President Wilson of one single vote properly cast for him."

A great many messages from all parts of the country were received at Republican headquarters. Mr. Wilcox said many of them were "complaints of every kind."

OFFICIAL COUNT BEGINS TODAY

San Francisco, November 12—The official count of California's vote in the presidential election will begin tomorrow and steps have been taken not only to expedite the work but to insure its accuracy. Both the Democratic and Republican State Central Committees have engaged checkers and attorneys to scrutinize the count of each tally sheet and tonight all preparations were reported complete.

Except in San Francisco and Los Angeles the counts of the tally sheets sent in by the precinct election officers will be before the board of supervisors in each county. In San Francisco city and county election returns will be handled by the election committee-men, and in Los Angeles County by the registrar of voters.

The Republican State Central Committee was busy today getting in figures on the official vote on all the electors in the belief, it was announced, that at least some of the Republican electors might be found to have enough votes to qualify for the electoral college.

With seventeen isolated precincts still unreported, the vote tonight stood: Hughes, 462,828; Wilson, 466,106.

The missing votes, it was generally believed, will not materially change President Wilson's majority of 3,278.

WILL WED TOMORROW

Mr. John E. Farlow and Miss Agnes M. Whaley will wed tomorrow in the St. Patrick's Church by Rev. P. M. Jones.

The Sewing Society of the Central Presbyterian Church will hold an all-day meeting at the home of Mrs. R. B. Lovell on Tuesday 14th.

AGED KINGSTON WOMAN

Tells How She Recovered Her Strength

If the elderly people in Kingston could only realize what Vinol would do for them we would not be able to get enough to supply the demand. Following is a letter received from Mrs. A. E. Carson of this town. She says: "I am 69 years of age, and had been ailing for a long time with indigestion. I got run down, was weak, dizzy and could not sleep at night. I consulted two doctors who said I had hardening of the arteries and at my age could not expect to be strong again. My daughter would give me no peace until I tried Vinol, as it had done so much for her. I have taken five bottles and my health and strength have come back, so I am able to do all the housework for my family of four, and I am recommending Vinol to all my friends."

The reason Vinol is so beneficial to old people is because it contains the very elements needed to replace declining strength with renewed vigor, viz., beef and cod liver peptones, iron and manganese peptones, glycerophosphates and a mild tonic wine.

We want to ask every elderly person and every weak, run-down or debilitated person in Maysville to call at our store and get a bottle of Vinol, with the understanding that we will return your money if it fails to benefit.
